Product code : MD-253
Product name : Home Storage Center
EAN code : 8716502021097

With the Home Storage Center, you can easily store digital photos, music and movies on a central location in the network and share them with all users at home. The device has two drive bays to easily place two hard disks. Use a second hard disk for extra storage or to automatically save a copy of the files stored on the first hard disk for maximum security.

The Home Storage Center is the safest place for your valuable digital files. The device automatically creates a copy of the files that are saved on the PC's in the network, so that you always have a copy of your most recent files. By pressing the smart back-up button, data from a connected hard disk is copied to the Home Storage Center without the need for complicated software.

Thanks to the user-friendly installation program, the device can be installed and organized with only a few clicks of a mouse. Create public accounts or personal accounts which can be accessed with a user name and password to protect private files.
